Prepare For Great Crowd at Radnor

10,000 Expected at Annual Football Classic

Preparations have been made to take care of 10,000 fans at the Lower Merion-Radnor High football game this afternoon. The annual classic of the Main Line Schools will be played at Wayne this year and a record turnout is anticipated by school athletic authorities.

A special train from Ardmore to Wayne will be run by the Pennsylvania Railroad to take care of the huge crowds expected to go up the line to see the annual tussle. It will leave in time to get the Maroon and White rooters on their rival's field a half an hour before the game. In addition the bus lines are running special cars at reduced rates.

There will be a parade from the station at Wayne to the Radnor field led by a band engaged for the occasion. Cheer leaders with school colors will lead the invading host. In addition to this feature the usual snake dance of the ancient enemies between the halves will lend color to the fray.

Principal C. B. Pennypacker announced at the high school in Ardmore this week that Radnor had the occasion. The temporary stands of the huge crowd. Over 2500 reserved seats have been erected for the occasion. The temporary stands will run the length of the field.

The annual gridiron scrap between Lower Merion and Radnor is the oldest scholastic football classic in the eastern section of the country. This year the fate of the Kilpatrick cup is at stake. Lower Merion has two legs on the trophy and if it wins this year again it comes into permanent possession of the prize. The cup was offered by the father of a former Lower Merion High captain to the school winning three games in succession. It took the place of the Powell trophy, which was won by Radnor.

Lower Merion has been holding special workouts all week in preparation for the tilt with their ancient rivals. Captain Peabody, whose shoulder was injured in the Pottstown game last Saturday, was on the sidelines early in the week, but his shoulder will be in shape to enable him to get into action Saturday, according to information coming from Coach Frank Forstburg. The rest of the team is in tip-top shape and the regular line-up will be started by the Lower Merion coach.

Lower Merion has had all the best of it in the games for the last two years, having won both times. Last year the final count was 23-0; the year before, 3-0.

With its victory over Pottstown last week, Lower Merion raised its string of straight victories to 27. Radnor, on the other hand, has had a poor season, having won only two games.

Following are the official standings of the teams for this season:

LOWER MERION H. RADNOR HIGH

31-Northeast	28-Swarth. P.

Choir Recital.

The cantata, "Hymn of Praise," by Mendelssohn, will be rendered by the augmented choir of All Saints' Church, Wynnewood, next Wednesday evening.

Choir Leader David Spratt has gathered a chorus of picked voices, bringing the number of singers to 25, to present this difficult and beautiful work. There will be an organ and piano accompaniment.

Mrs. Sidney Burgoyne will be soprano soloist, and Mr. Albert E. Orr, tenor soloist. The guest organist will be Mr. Charles K. Souder, while Miss Fannie Loos will be at the piano.

The service will begin at 8 P. M. in the church, at the corner of Montgomery and Wynnewood avenues.

In New York.

Dr. Wray Hughes Hopkins spent five days during the past week at Hotel Pennsylvania, New York, N. Y., obtaining his technique on the Neurocalometer. Several hundred chiropractors from all parts of the United States and Canada were in attendance.

Baptists To Dedicate New Church Next Week

Plans Completed for Ceremony and Installation of Pastor. Description of Building

The completion of the new Baptist Church building will be celebrated next week in a series of services beginning tomorrow with the open service and concluding the following Sunday, November 30, in the formal Dedication Service.

The services mark the culmination of the building enterprise begun in November, 1922. Several months were required to perfect the plans and arrange the finances. Ground was broken in July, 1923, and the cornerstone laid the following September. Since then the work has gone steadily forward until its recent completion. The additions which make the present church several times the size of the former building have involved the expenditure, including equipment, of more than $80,000 and give the Baptists an edifice with a replacement value in excess of $100,000. Of equal importance and satisfaction to the members of the church is the fact that the finances have been so taken care of that no appeals for contributions are necessary or will be made at this time.

An elaborate program has been arranged for the services, including preachers and speakers of national repute and several services of unusual local interest, notably the organ recital on Tuesday evening by Mr. Harry C. Banks, Jr., of Narberth; the Union Prayer Service on Wednesday evening, and the Union Thanksgiving Service Thursday morning, in both of which the ministers and congregations of the Presbyterian, Methodist and Lutheran churches will participate. A feature of all the services will be the new organ console type installed by the Estey Organ Company, which contains many new features, giving the organist a more complete and responsive control of the instrument than is possible in the older types. Another feature of interest will be the informal reception given by the women of the church Tuesday evening following the organ recital. Of unusual interest, too, will be the final musical service on Sunday evening, November 30, when the new minister, Rev. Robert E. Keighton, who has accepted the call recently extended to him, will be introduced.

A summary of the program for the week follows:

Sunday, November 30:

10.30 A. M.—Morning Worship. Sermon by Milton G. Evans, D. D., LL. D., President Crozer Theological Seminary.

Greetings—Anthony M. Gilbert and Ray L. Hudson, representing Philadelphia Baptist Association and Baptist Union of Philadelphia.

2.30 P. M.—Dedication Service. Sermon by Rev. Isaac C. Matthews, Ph. D., professor of Old Testament Interpretation, Crozer Theological Seminary.

7.45 P. M.—Musical Service and introduction of minister-elect, Rev. Robert E. Keighton. Rev. Elim

A. E. Palmquist, Executive Secretary, Philadelphia Federation of Churches, presiding. Bertrand A. Austin, cellist.

All of the services are open to the public and a cordial invitation is extended to the entire community to attend one or more of the services and inspect this example of thoroughly modern church planning in a beautiful architectural setting, which can not be fully appreciated from its description alone, however realistic and interesting both in portrayal of its artistry and the large part played therein by Narberth talent and endeavor.

The New Building.

The enlarged building for the Baptist Church of the Evangel at Narberth, while several times as large as that portion of the existing building which has been used for worship for many years, has been so arranged in plan as not to dwarf or change in effect the usefulness of the old portion. Because of the necessity of continuing services in the old auditorium room during the construction of the new building and because of the sentiment quite naturally attached to the old building by reason of its many years of use during the growth of the congregation to its present size, there was as little change as possible made in the important room of the old building. In the new scheme, the auditorium and Sunday School rooms still remain as an important portion of the completed building.

The architects for the building, Boyd, Abel and Gugert, of Philadelphia, one member of which, Mr. Victor D. Abel, is a resident of Narberth, after a careful study of the situation, determined that no better model could be followed in designing the exterior than the English Parish Church. This is the type of building constructed during a highly religious period in the history of England, at a time when churches were built throughout the smaller towns and villages, and, without emulating too much of the highly decorated, ornate cathedrals of larger cities, attained a design and importance of their own.

This type of building was particularly befitting to a location such as Narberth, being half way between the larger churches of the city and the smaller and more remote rural buildings. Likewise it fitted well into the scheme of the existing portion of the building.

The new auditorium was constructed of a local granite stone sufficiently similar in appearance to the stone work of the old building so as not to seriously affect or change the exterior appearance, but at the same time giving to the entire building as now completed, a solidity befitting its new importance.

The entrance at the corner of Narberth and Elmwood avenues, from which approaches most of the traffic. Massive carved doors open into a vestibule which forms the ground floor of the new tower. This tower, the most impressive and important feature of the exterior, is rather squat in appearance, but sufficiently high, with interesting Gothic detail with rough and dressed stone work. The top has open louvres enclosing a belfry.

The vestibule has a floor of natural slate with green tile faincoting on the side walls, and rough cream-colored plaster walls and ceiling. The entrance into the auditorium is through a large doorway with double doors. The auditorium is 36 feet wide by 55 feet long, with a height of 14 feet at the eaves to over 20 feet at the peak. It is treated with a charming simplicity with contrasting walls, wainscoting and side walls. The floor is again of a soft color green and purple variegated slate as in the vestibule. The side walls are wainscoted with dark woodwork to the height of the window sills, and the side walls above that to the eaves are of a soft caen stone plaster, laid out in blocks, in rather formal fashion. The entire inside of the roof of the auditorium with its trusses is exposed and forms the ceiling of the room. This

OUT EARLY
Because of the Thanksgiving holidays, "Our Town" will be printed two days earlier than usual next week. Copy for publication in the next issue must, therefore, be in by Tuesday at the latest. Attention of correspondents is called to this change of schedule.

AT MERION BLAZE

Narberth Fire Company Called Out Tuesday Morning.

The Narberth Fire Company was called to assist in battling a serious fire at Merion this week; five companies, in all, were called.

"Ivy Walls," the handsome residence of Murray Gibson, a retired business man, Wynnewood road and South Highland avenue, Merion, was swept by fire shortly before 10 o'clock Tuesday morning.

The roof and the third floor were destroyed, and the interior work and furnishings of the lower floors ruined by smoke and water.

Mr. and Mrs. Gibson were unable to estimate the loss, but believe the house, which was of the old English stone type, will have to be rebuilt.

The firemen were hampered by the cold, the temperature being 20 degrees, and by shortage of water. The walls and ladders became coated with ice as the water streams were directed toward the top of the burning house.

Several firemen narrowly escaped serious injury when the roof collapsed. Their heavy helmets were struck by pieces of burning timber.

The furnishings destroyed included a valuable collection of Japanese rugs and works of art which Mrs. Gibson, Sr., brought home from the Orient last summer. They were stored on the third floor.

OYEZ! OYEZ!

Can you beat it? "An Honest (?) Lawyer and a True Physician," these are to be in Narberth tomorrow at 12.15. No! I know you don't believe it and it seems rather paradoxical to me; but seem' is believin' and we may judge for ourselves, for Dr. Shope has given his word of honor that they do exist and he has promised to present them at the Narberth Presbyterian Church to all who desire to meet them. And Sam (the above mentioned doctor for six days in the week, but who is Sam to the boys on Sunday) will most likely introduce them in his inimitable manner. And here's another surprise. Every WOMAN is offered the privilege of meeting these men, the Lawyer and the Doctor. This week only, we want the ladies. "God bless 'em," and you men, every "Man Jack" of you, should be on deck. It costs nothing to get in on this, and only what you want to give to get out.

This is a personal message to everyone in the vicinity of Narberth, for after 1.15 Sunday we may never again have the wonderful opportunity to meet this Lawyer and this GREAT PHYSICIAN. I want to meet him. Do you?

Epworth League Notes.

A wonderful talk was given by Mr. Frye at the devotional meeting last Sunday and everyone present profited by it.

We still have not broken our record of 41, but we expect 50 next Sunday to hear Miss Aletha Lamb speak on "The Cross Sign of Life," a very interesting topic. Everyone, young and old, is invited.

Yes, it is only six days off. What? Christmas! No, you fool. Ah! I mean "The Fool," given by Miss Pauline Mayo, of New York City. A full house is expected according to the way the tickets are selling. Better get yours now. Don't wait or you may be left without the pasteboard of admission.

At our last business meeting Charles V. Clegg was received as an active member of the league.

WE MOVE AGAIN

The office of "Our Town" has been moved from the Log Cabin to the Second Floor of the Narberth Coal Company Building, corner of Narberth and Haverford avenues. The entrance is on Narberth avenue.

Our phone has not been moved yet, so if 2545 does not answer, better try 2261.

Famous Play Will Be Presented

Epworth League to Offer "The Fool" at Elm Hall

Another play will be added to the imposing list of Narberth's home activities next week when the Epworth League of the Methodist Church will present "The Fool" at Elm Hall.

Miss Pauline Mayo will present the play in person. It will begin at 8 P. M. Tickets are on sale by members of the Epworth League at 50 cents.

Perhaps no play in the history of the American stage has had the history that has had "The Fool." Channing Pollock, the author, spent 10 years looking for a producer. Time and again it was partly accepted and rejected or postponed. It was written for Shelley Hull, the brilliant young author, who died just as it was to be produced. It was declined with thanks by one big producer after another. Finally, the Selwyns bought "The Fool," and arranged to produce it in Los Angeles as a tryout. On that first night Mr. Pollock was approached in the lobby by a motion picture magnate, who said, "What's all this talk in your play about the Star of Bethlehem?" Mr. Pollock said, "Do you know what the Star of Bethlehem is?" "Sure," said he. "It's a star in the Milky Way." Mr. Pollock explained that it was the star that rose over Bethlehem when Jesus was born, and that it symbolized the coming of Christ. "Well," said he, "you ought to say so in the play. People don't know about these things." And these were critics who were saying that it couldn't succeed. It succeeded. Night after night it played to crowds of silent, reverent people.

Miss Mayo has given it in many churches in place of the regular service on Sunday nights.

It presents the relation of Christianity to society in such a thoroughly absorbing, red-blooded story that anyone who hears it can hardly fail to grasp more of the significance of present-day problems.

Mrs. Bean to Speak.

The next meeting of the Women's Community Club will be one of special interest, with Mrs. George E. Bean as the speaker. She will talk on current events. Most of the members are familiar with Mrs. Bean's talks and look forward to her coming with enjoyment. The topic has not been announced, but it is sure to prove instructive and entertaining when presented by Mrs. Bean.

The club room is sure to be filled to capacity, so members are urged to come early to have the full benefit of the talk.

Miss Grace Pennypacker, of Ardmore, will render a violin solo. The usual social hour will close the meeting.

School of Music Concert.

The first concert of the season under the auspices of the Main Line School of Music will take place on Friday evening, December 5, at the Woman's Club Building, Ardmore. The school is presenting the Schmidt String Quartet, an organization well-known around Philadelphia, having played many recitals both in Philadelphia and the vicinity.

These concerts are given for the students of the school and their friends. The school has a limited number of tickets which they will send to anyone interested in this Chamber Music upon personal application to the school requesting tickets.

Further notice will appear next week, giving program to be played.

Highland Dairies Record.

Edward Woolman, of the Highland Dairies, some time ago offered a bonus to the employees in the plant who prepare the milk for sale if they would secure the lowest bacterial count in the Philadelphia and Suburban territory during the last few months. His employees won the bonus as Highland Dairies had the lowest count, 3800 for the period; the next being 8900.

Alumni Blanks Junior High.

On November 13 the former ninth grade, now of Lower Merion, played the team of the Narberth School to a shut-out, 40 to 0, at football. The game was called early in the third period on account of darkness.

Litchfield, Foster and Ligrest stood out for the Alumni, while Dohard and Brooks starred for the home team. The eleven of last year's students gained at will and played well on the defense, allowing the junior high only one first down.

Captain Messec and Julian, both of Narberth, sustained injuries, but played gamely.

Christmas—

VERY SOON OUR THOUGHTS WILL BE TURNED TO SELECTING SUITABLE CHRISTMAS GIFTS. WHEN THAT TIME COMES CONSIDER HOW SENSIBLY A SOUND BOND WOULD SOLVE THE PROBLEM. THEY COME IN $100, $500 AND $1000 DENOMINATIONS.

SOME INTERESTING FACTS WILL SHOW WHY MOST BANKERS PROPHESY THAT SOUND BONDS WILL AGAIN BE SELLING ON A 3% BASIS. A DETAILED STUDY OF INVESTMENT CONDITIONS FOR THE PAST 200 YEARS BRINGS OUT THAT WE ARE NOW ON THE FIFTH UPSWING IN BOND PRICES.

In 1875 sound bonds were on a 6.20% basis

THE YIELD GOES DOWN WHEN THE PRICE GOES UP. WE ARE NOW IN A RISING MARKET AND VERY LIKELY WILL BE FOR THE NEXT 20 YEARS.

NOW IS THE PROPER TIME TO BUY BONDS.

L. M. ALUMNI

Signs Up More Famous Grads for Annual Game with L. M. Varsity.

Arrangements for the football game between Lower Merion High School varsity, who clinched the suburban title two weeks ago by their decisive victory over Lansdowne, and the alumni, are nearing completion. This post-season game will be played on Saturday, November 29, at 2 P. M., on the athletic field. After most other football teams have laid aside their togs and broken training, the Lower Merion boys will still be keyed up to fighting pitch for the hardest struggle of the season.

There is no doubt that the Maroon and White will have a hard game before them. Bill Shupert, former quarterback at Brown, is whipping the Alumni team into excellent shape. He has no lack of material and has had considerable experience in coaching. While as yet the final line-up has not been decided upon, it is certain that almost the entire team will be made up of college stars past and present, but mostly present.

Methodist Seniors and Baptists Win.

The Methodist Senior team, of the Inter-Church Bowling League, jumped into a tie for the league leadership at the expense of the Presbyterian Junior team when they took three games from the latter team on Friday evening, November 14. Bailey, of the Methodist team, was high man for the night with a score of 478 points.

The Baptists emerged from their cellar position by winning two games from the Methodist Juniors on Monday night, November 17. Both teams had only four men out but the games nevertheless were very interesting. Neither team made any high scores in the first game but both did very well in the second and third.

NARBERTH BOY SCOUTS

On Monday last, at Scout headquarters, the Troop was inspected by Mr. W. E. Carter, from headquarters, Delaware and Montgomery County Councils. Here's hoping we made a good showing. There were 28 boys present.

Tests passed:
First Class—Fred F. Patten, carpentering, recruit, nature study, signaling and swimming.

Ed. Smith, nature study, swimming, judging.
Second Class—William Seigel, first aid.

We welcomed two recruits, Thomas McCartan and Alfred Brammer.

TELEPHONE PROGRESS—

The wire chief is a transmission expert. By day and night he tests the millions of miles of wire so that the service may be uninterrupted.

Transmitters are constantly being "talked to death" by phonographs in Bell Laboratories to develop the most perfect telephone instrument possible.

The enlargement of hundreds of switchboards in recent years has not retarded the development of a higher quality of service.

TODAY your telephone "talks" better than twenty or ten or even five years ago. Your voice travels with more force, greater clearness—what the telephone engineers call "better transmission."

It is apparent on local calls, and is even more noticeable on connections with distant cities. There are hundreds of the latter that couldn't be reached a decade ago, and calls to as many more were pretty much a gamble with limitations which have since been overcome.

How has this come about?

Invention and development.

During the past few years of unprecedented telephone plant expansion the solution of the great problems arising from the war-time exhaustion of telephone facilities has not left neglected the scientific development of the existing service.

There has been constant advance. Telephone transmission is an important and understandable example. And in such things there is no let-up. More and better service is the principal aim of this company.

EXHIBIT OF POSTERS

Designed by Narberth Pupils.

A new feature characterized the observance of children's Book Week at the Community Library this month. It was a display of posters designed to stimulate reading and the love of books which had been prepared by pupils of the Narberth Public schools. While all of the posters were based on the same theme, they showed interesting individuality and variety of detail and color. They attracted the attention of all Library patrons during the week and the favorable comment of many who did not previously know that such capable work is being done at the Narberth school.

The exhibit was held at the request of Miss Jantzen, the art teacher, under whose direction the work had been done and with whom the Library was glad to co-operate. This exhibition will remain in the Library until December 1.

The names of the pupils whose posters were selected by Miss Jantzen as being suitable for display in the Library are as follows:

Kenneth La Boube, 7B; Catherine Irwin, 8B; Robert Butler, 7A; Dorothy Percy, 8B; Edward Shea, 7B.

DEDICATION WEEK

woodwork, with the wainscoting and the wood pews, is all finished a soft dark brown in color.

The pulpit is elaborately decorated with Gothic arches, carvings and doorways leading into the Sunday School building. At one side is the organ console and choir space. In the center is the opening into the Baptistry, which is arranged in a recess behind the pulpit with a carved rail at the front so as not to be seen except when actually used. The upper portion of the recess contains niches for flowering plants and above the front opening is an extended balcony carrying the exposed organ pipes.

The Baptistry, while visible from all portions of the church, is entered entirely from the rear or the Sunday School building. The walls and floors are of tile. Dressing and shower rooms are conveniently arranged.

On either side of the auditorium are windows of antique leaded glass, of Gothic design, culminating in a large and elaborately arranged window in the rear at the opposite end of the room from the pulpit. This window is an important feature of both exterior and interior design.

Directly next to the new auditorium is an alcove which will accommodate an overflow meeting and which is to be used as a separate Sunday School room. This alcove also adjoins the existing auditorium, which is now to be used as the main Sunday School assembly rooms. It is also arranged as a gymnasium, there having been constructed at one end a balcony for spectators.

From both the old and new auditoriums are doorways to the Sunday School building, which contains two stories and a basement. In this portion are the various Sunday School rooms, pastor's study, choir room, social room, kitchen, lavatories, organ chamber, bowling alleys and heater room.

One of the features of the new arrangement is the separation of the different units of the Sunday School. There is a separate room for the beginners with its own fireplace, closet and storage space. Each of the Primary and Junior departments has its own small assembly room with four class rooms grouped around it for individual instruction.

The pastor's study has its own fireplace and bookcases. All the conveniences known to a modern Sunday School building have been adequately provided.

On the ground floor under the old auditorium, the original Sunday School rooms have been reconstructed into a new and large social room, with a completely equipped kitchen and pantry. These accommodations provide for serving 300 people.

The basement of the Sunday School building contains a large room with two bowling alleys and spectators' space and the necessary heater and coal bin equipment.

This entire portion of the building has been so constructed that if the growth of the congregation is such that additional floor space is required, another story can be added on, which will provide additional class room accommodation for the intermediate classes, similar to the Junior and Primary classes, and it will also contain separate individual class rooms and the Senior classes and the various clubs.

The entire addition while much larger than the existing building has been so arranged that now, upon its completion, the old section fits into the new as a complete unit, and without any of the awkward complications which so often follow changes and additions to existing structures. The entire lot has been utilized in such a way as to preserve as much as possible the lawn facing upon the street fronts and to provide an adequate setting for the enlarged building.

One of the interesting features in its construction is the important part played by local endeavor. In addition to the architects, of which firm Mr. Abel resides in Narberth, the building was constructed by Messrs. William D. and Horace T. Smedley, general contractors; the plumbing, heating and roofing was installed by Cook Brothers; the plastering by Mr. Edward S. Haws, and the lighting fixtures by Mr. John McDonald, all of Narberth. In addition, the painting contractor was S. W. Rudolph, and the electrical contractor, Mr. Herman Eckstein, both of Philadelphia.

ROLLS

For dinner, for lunch, for breakfast, we have rolls for every occasion. And every one is delicious because they are all made in the good old-fashioned way with a liberal quantity of Best Shortening, Purest Milk and Fleischmann's Yeast.

They'll add variety to your table, and the superb quality of their ingredients makes them a fine, wholesome food. You'll find any kind you want.

Call any day next week, when we will make them fresh every day for you.
